Museum of Menstruation

Raising awareness on 28th of May Menstrual Hygiene Day, May 25-26

Museum of Menstruation was an improvised museum that was designed with the purpose of bringing different information about one topic in one place. The museum was small and short in time, but it brought at CEU interesting, reflective and relevant information about menstruation. Members of the CEU community could enjoy in the Museum of Menstruation the exhibition of three selected paintings from the Widening the Cycle Menstrual Art Exhibition, the Global Map of Menstrual Taboos, created with the help of the members of the CEU community, the Hygienic Menstrual Products Exhibition and they could take photos with the sight Menstruation Matters and reflect on a set of questions that have been designed for people who experience menstruation and for those who do not experience it. Also, a table full with informative materials and leaflets about human rights and menstruation, menstrual health and hygienic management, menstruation matters for transgender people etc. was at the disposal of members of the CEU community. Museum of Menstruation was organized in connection with the Menstrual Hygiene Day celebrated internationally on 28th of May and it was the last activity as part of our Menstruation Campaign that we started in October, 2015 and implemented it every month throughout this academic year by preparing teaser campaign posters that have been displayed throughout the main campus. The Museum of Menstruation has been included in the list of events organized globally on the occasion of Menstrual Hygiene Day, 2016.

Info Table and Letter signing for Khadija Ismayilova, journalist from Azerbaijan

Human RightS Initiative, together with Sport for Rights, launched a campaign to mark the 40th birthday of jailed Azerbaijani journalist, Khadija Ismayilova, and to celebrate her release. In this regard, on May 27, HRSI organized an info table in the Laptop Area between 12.00-2.00 PM, where CEU community could get information on Khadija's case and on the stories of other political prisoners in Azerbaijan and sign HRSI's letter to Khadija for her birthday.

HRSI is choosing new fellows

Two new project managers were appointed from the large pool of the great candidates

In the middle of April, HRSI launched its annual call for fellowship applications. The fellowship is a chance to spend 10 months in a challenging and rewarding environment that is the HRSI office, learn new skills and advance one's understanding of contemporary human rights issues.

We received more than 30 applications from current CEU students and recent graduates. After a complex selection process, Trinh Lien Huong and Krisztina Kovács were appointed as HRSI project managers for the next year. Congratulations!

PR and Communication & Leadership, Team and Conflict Management Workshops at CEU

Two more intensive workshops were organized by HRSI

Two more intensive one-day workshops were organized by the HRSI team in May and June. Kiry Noémi Ambrus, a lead trainer and consultant of Civil Support Nonprofit Ltd and Krisztina Bombera, a broadcast news producer, a foreign affairs analyst, a news anchor and a show host in Hungary, led a training on PR and Communication on May 28. Agnes Enyedi, an independent training consultant shared her experience in leadership, team and conflict management, on June 11, 2016.

Household Items & Clothing Drive

Donations are collected in CEU Laptop area and in the Kerepesi Residence Center

The end-of-the-year clothing drive takes place from 20th of May to 17th of June on campus and in the Residence Center. Even though the drive is not over yet, we have already collected hundreds of kilograms of cloth and household items for those in need.

The donations will be distributed through Adománytaxi, a humanitarian initiative group operating in Hungary, which transports and distributes clothes in small villages. With their logistical support, we can be sure that all the donations will reach those for whom they are intended.

Student Community Engagement Program finished for this year

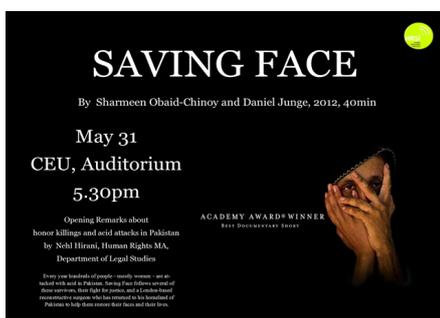

Members of the CEU community had the opportunity to volunteer throughout this academic year in their schools based in Budapest. They had the chance to teach English and Spanish and organize social sensitivity trainings regarding issues such as tolerance, diversity, human rights etc. Eight volunteers will be awarded with certificates for their commitment and engagement. You can find more about the program and volunteers' impressions, as well children's opinions in the blog post written by Zsófia Suba, HRSI program manager at: <http://ceuweekly.blogspot.hu/2016/05/the-human-rights-initiatives-community.html>

New issue of The Activist is out!

We wish to thank our great authors and dedicated editorial team

After long months of intensive work, we finally published the 2016 edition of our annual human right journal, The Activist. This year, more than two dozens of CEU students were involved in the production of the journal, either as authors or as members of the editorial team. We wish to thank all of them for hard work, and especially our editors-in-chief Altayesh Terefe (LEGS), Anne Hardt (SPP), Joshua George (BS) and Saman Sardar (SPP). The Activist can be downloaded here: <https://hrsi.ceu.edu/activist>

Movie Saving Face screened at CEU

Raising awareness about survivors of acid attacks in Pakistan

HRSI organized together with Nehl Hirani, MA student at the Department of Legal Studies the screening of the movie "Saving Face", academy award winner of best short documentary. Saving Face, directed by Sharmeen Obaid-

Chinoy and Daniel Junge in 2012, follows several women survivors of acid attacks, their fight for justice, and a London-based reconstructive surgeon who has returned to his homeland of Pakistan to help them restore their faces and their lives.
